for Pulsar 7-in-1 Storm Coats & Pulsarail PR505 Coveralls

Lee

*Height: 5'9" Leg: 31"
Waist: 36" Chest: 46"*

Lee wore a medium 7-in-1 and this was about right, but getting a little snug. He was wearing just a t-shirt; if he was also wearing a jumper, he'd have gone for a large.

He also wore a medium coverall and it was comfortable.

Lewis

*Height: 5'10" Leg: 31"
Waist: 40" Chest: 48"*

Lewis wore a large 7-in-1, but would go for an XL to feel a bit more comfortable if he was wearing an extra layer underneath

He went for an XL on the coverall and was happy with the fit.

Mike

*Height: 5'10" Leg: 32"
Waist: 32" Chest: 34"*

Mike is slim and preferred a tighter fit and went with a small on both the 7-in-1 and the coverall - we decided overall the sizes are generous, as Mike would be a medium in most other clothes he would choose off the peg.

Kevin

*Height: 6'1" Leg: 33"
Waist: 34" Chest: 38"*

Kevin is a little taller and rounder than Mike and found the Medium 7-in-1 and the large coverall to be the best fit. The length from the crotch to the shoulder was OK, but we think if you're taller in the body and will be wearing under garments it might be good to go up a size to get maximum movement in the coverall.

Gareth

*Height: 6'3" Leg: 33"
Waist: 42" Chest: 54"*

Gareth is tall and has a big chest too. He went straight to the 2XL for the 7-in-1 and thought it was about right, but if he was layering up, he might go for the 3XL. He felt the same about the coverall and wore a 2XL, but would also be happy with a 3XL.
